Win Prizes Fit For a True Football Fan

College All-Stars "History Hunt" game ends Nov. 30 at National Naval Aviation Museum

Pensacola, Fla.—Nov. 4, 2008—The Tigers, the Midshipmen, Black Knights of the Hudson and the Gators—all are part of the new College All-Stars History Hunt game at the National Naval Aviation Museum. Players have the chance to register to win priceless game gear—signed memorabilia from some of the best teams and coaches in college football, as well as tickets to the Senior Bowl.

Visitors to the National Naval Aviation Museum can pick up a free game card to find College All-Stars who played at Division I schools and served their country on the battle lines or in the depths of space. After completing the game by stamping all eight clues at appropriate stamp stations, stop by the Flight Deck Store to register for a chance to win prizes fit for a true football fan—tickets to the 2009 Under Armour Senior Bowl and autographed footballs from Auburn head coach Tommy Tuberville, Navy head coach Ken Niumatalolo, Army head coach Stan Brock, and Florida Gator's head coach Urban Meyer.

The game ends Nov. 30, and winners will be announced in early December. Prizes are sponsored by the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation, Inc.

The College All-Stars History Hunt game is free and open to the public. Previous games include the Famous Flyers History Hunt, where players learned tales of heroic and daring pilots, and the LOST History Hunt, an adventure through hidden history to discover clues for basic survival skills to get off of the LOST desert island.

Admission to the Museum is FREE. For a complete list of upcoming events at the Museum, visit www.NavalAviationMuseum.org or call the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation at (850) 453-2389 or (800) 327-5002.
